

Bayard Rustin: The Man at the Intersection

A COMMUNITY REMEMBRANCE OF BAYARD
RUSTIN ON THE CENTENNIAL OF HIS BIRTH

Saturday, March 17, 2012 • 5:00 to 6:30 pm
Friends Meeting at Cambridge • 5 Longfellow Park, Cambridge

The Cambridge Peace Commission invites you to join Rev. Canon Ed Rodman, Marian Darlington Hope, Horace Small, and Melody Brazo as we remember and honor civil rights leader and organizer Bayard Rustin on the 100th anniversary of his birth. We will also have a number of musical selections performed by the New England Spiritual Ensemble.

This event will include remembrances of Rustin from those who knew him and reflections on his contributions and legacy, followed by time for informal sharing and a simple reception.

* 5:00 to 6:30 PM: Gathering to Remember the Life and Legacy of Bayard Rustin in the Friends Meetinghouse

* 6:30 to 7:15 PM: Informal reception and gathering in the Friends Room across the way

To call Bayard Rustin simply a “civil rights leader” does not do him justice. Rustin was a transformative nonviolent activist for civil rights, democracy, and human rights worldwide. Rustin was a pacifist in the face of war, openly gay in a time of sexual repression and oppression, an African-American Quaker, a labor and human rights activist – and an amazing musician and singer.

Free and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served.
